Sentencing set for Osler after 'no contest' plea

Defense skips preliminary hearing to go for early plea

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – A local man will be sentenced March 9 in connection with a September 2019 shooting in Garnett that wounded one of his neighbors. David Osler, 56 of Garnett, pleaded no contest in late January to amended charges of second degree attempted murder and criminal threat in connection with the September 22 shooting of Robin Durand while Durand was seated on a sofa inside his residence. He was initially charged with first degree attempted murder and related offenses. The plea agreement was arranged prior to a preliminary hearing in the case, which had previously been set for early January. Through the no contest plea, Osler admitted to entering Durand's home the afternoon of September 22 and firing a single .45 caliber at the 67 year-old as he sat on his living room sofa. The slug entered and exited Durand's body and was later recovered by investigating officers in the sofa he was sitting on. Durand was hospitalized for treatment and later released. A probable cause affidavit in the case said Osler left Durand's home after the shooting and returned to his own house nearby where he staged weapons and ammunition in preparation for a shoot-out with police. Officers were eventually able to talk Osler into surrendering, as a special tactics team prepared to enter the dwelling. Neighbors and family mem-

Warm temps for March, but month has earned a reputation for surprises

Late March storm once dropped 18-inch snowfall on local area

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA – Sunshine and temperatures in the 60s this week up to nearly 70 on Saturday may make area residents think Winter 2020 has hit the road, but state weather officials warn not to count your chickens before they hatch. Mary Knapp with the Kansas Weather Data Library told the Review yesterday Kansas has a reputation for winter that can sneak up on us. "The outlook through March 15th favors warmer than normal conditions, as does the March outlook," Knapp said. "That said, I wouldn't call it an end to winter yet. Kansas weather has a real knack for a late spring snowstorm." Knapp said Garnett reported 6.8 inches of snow on March 24, 20, and on March 24, 1912, the city saw a snowfall total of 18 inches. One of the latest recorded snowfalls for Garnett and the surrounding areas was four inches on March 29, 2009.

December cold for local retail sales

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA – December was a cold month for retail sales in Anderson County, which saw a 27 percent drop in sales tax collections compared to a year ago. Anderson County adds 1.5 percent to the 6.5 percent Kansas sales tax on all retail sales generated in Anderson County. Some cities in the county also add an additional percentage to sales from their jurisdictions. The December sales were reflected in money received by the Kansas Department of Revenue in January and redistributed to localities in February 2020. The figures show Anderson County's tax distribution dropped from $150,907 in February 2019 to $108,966 last month. For the fiscal year-to-date beginning in July, the county collected 3.2 percent less than the $891,000 it had collected last year. Anderson County in fact

Beaver plagues city lake

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – City workers are trying to solve a beaver problem at the city's Crystal Lake. City manager Chris Weiner said the animal had been gnawing down a number of trees at the lake, and the city had gotten special permission from Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks to trap it. Beavers not only damage and destroy trees by chewing them down to eat the soft inner layer under the bark, they also burrow into the dams of lakes and ponds and can cause the collapse of those structures if unchecked. Beavers are the largest rodents in North America, and the second largest in the world. They can reach up to 45 inches long and 70 pounds. Beavers mate for life, and mating occurs in the winter. A litter of 1-4 young is born in May. The young are born with fur and open eyes, and are ready to swim within 24 hours. They reach independence in about two years and set out to find their own territory.

But wait, there's more... Recently readers enjoyed the Review's annual Creative Kids Ad Design and Creative Writing Contest, in which 4th, 5th and 6th graders in area schools put their skills to the test for local businesses in designing ads for them and in testing their imaginations in creative writing. For more than 30 years we've been remiss in that annual publication because there was only space enough to run our winners in each of the 4th, 5th and 6th grade classes and a handful of other honorable mentions. This year we've decided to

Beavers form family units of around eight members, and mark their territory with urine-marked mud puddles. They are primarily nocturnal, and gnaw down trees and twigs, and bring them back to the home den. They store twigs for feeding. They are good engineers, and build dams in streams to make a pond, which may also cause flooding of adjacent land. They build a lodge within the lake or pond, in which they live. They will also build canals in order to travel and transport wood. When in danger, they may slap their tails on the water as a warning signal to other beavers. They primarily eat bark and the soft wood under the bark, called cambium.

Weiner said Monday morning the beaver had not been trapped and was still at large.

Colony Christian Church - "The Gift"

Howard Reiter gave the Communion Meditation on the Power of Prayer. He told the story of an agnostic on a ship that decided to go listen to a preacher give a sermon. After listening to him once, he decided to go again. On the way the second time, there was a lady in a lounge chair with her arms flung out and her palms up. The agnostic had two oranges, so as a joke, he decided to put one in each of her hands. After listening to the preacher, he came out to find the woman eating the oranges. He started talking to her and she told him about how seaisick she had been and had been praying to God for an orange. WOW! The power of prayer! We must always pray expecting God to answer. (Ref: James 5:16)

Pastor Chase Riebel gave the sermon on "The Gift", referring to Luke 15:11-24, the parable of the Prodigal Son. When the son asked for his inheritance early, he became as good as dead to his family. The son had taken for granted what he was born into. He felt he had a right to what his father owned, even though his father was still alive. He struggled with arrogance. Just like the son, we squander the very life that God gives us by our willingness to sin and walking away from him. The son eventually returned to his father and confessed. This was reason to celebrate! The father gave him a robe (meaning his son was special), a ring (giving the son authority and power), sandals and killed the fattened calf (sacrifice for the celebration). He gave his son the gift of grace. The son didn't have to do anything to earn this grace, it was by the father's love that he received it, just as God does for each of us. (Ref: Luke 15:11-24, Romans 1:21 & 28, Ephesians 2:1-9) Hear this sermon in its entirety at <http://www.colonychristianchurch.org>, or on your favorite podcast.

What is there to hold onto?

A small boy was walking alongside of his father. As they walked the boy kept stumbling and falling down. Finally in order to help himself he reached up and took hold of one of his father's fingers. However he still kept stumbling and falling because he was not strong enough to hold the father's finger when he stumbled. They finally stopped and the boy said, "Daddy why don't you hold my hand instead of me trying to hold onto your finger."

This illustrates well where most people are with God. Some people prefer to buy into the consumer culture that dominates, thinking all things should accommodate their appetites. This was the prevailing culture at the end of the era of the kings of Israel. This is clearly stated in Judges 21:25 concerning the end of the kingship form of government. We read, "In those days Israel had no king, everyone did as he saw fit." These people are totally disconnected from God instead preferring to be in complete charge of their own life in spite of the stumbling and falling that accompanies that approach.

"Have it your way", was Burger King's famous slogan and it has proven all too easy, even for Christians, to apply it to our understanding of God. We think we can have it our way, sometimes connected to God other times not. Living in a world that is neither completely secular or completely Christian. Driven by tradition, convenience or personal preference. Jesus refers to this type of person as neither hot nor cold. Their grip on the hand of God is so tenuous they cannot hold on when they stumble. They live in a world characterized by frustration as they continue to stumble in the same places over the same things.

In Psalm 37:23-24, the Psalmist provides us a glimpse of how God cares for his own. "If the LORD delights in a man's way he makes his steps firm; though he may stumble, he will not fall, for the LORD upholds him with his hand." Is this not what happens between the boy and his father? In order for the LORD to delight in a man's way we must reach our hand out to God so he may clasp it then our steps will be firm.

Farming the taxpayers: The wind industry’s cash cow

REVIEW COMMENTARY

DANE HICKS, Publisher

If the federal government offered billions of dollars in tax credits and other incentives to promote the stacking of Oreo cookies all the way up to the International Space Station, U.S. companies would line up to gobble the goodies – and taxpayers would have to supply the milk.

And that 254-mile high column of cookies would be just about as practical as the billions pumped into the U.S. wind industry.

After all, the same type of fruitless dynamic has monetized corporate wind, which continues its race to force the 30,000 acre on-again, off-again industrial power plants down the throats of property owners and rural residents in Kansas and elsewhere in the country. The delicious addiction of tax incentives and outright subsidies has seen Big Wind grow fat without the pestering of logical accountability. Wind incentives indeed have been a cash cow so humongous only the federal government's barn can hold it.

That cow's been growing. Wind power has certainly expanded in “sometimes” capacity in recent years as the divisive developments have invaded rural communities, offering lease payments to poor farmers and landowners suffering in ag economies beset by poor commodity prices. But that growth's not been driven by market demand. It's been driven instead by billions of dollars of taxpayer money.

The scheme is perhaps best illustrated with one question: Why are there no wind farms in Johnson County?

Most Americans are in the dark as to the detailed mechanics which have been used to fund the development of wind power and the raw, massive they're footing in the form of those incentives. That scheme is designed to support an energy industry that can't and will never support itself with its own production in the market for electricity. It's a complicated array of local, state and federal subsidies, federal loans and loan guarantees which has topped $176 billion since 2000 – and most of the federal grants have been awarded since 2007.

There's no question of the chicken or the egg here. Without those subsidies and the generosity of the American taxpayer in opening his wallet for outright cash and his pledge to pay the income taxes for huge companies which escape them through production tax credits, there would be no wind industry in the United States. People in rural communities would still all be speaking to each other instead of being at odds over the giant turbines, and beautiful rural vistas would still be intact instead of resembling science fiction movies.

General Electric, NextEra Energy, Berkshire Hathaway – these massively wealthy companies have been the real winners in the fakery that has always defined the wind industry. The scam is clear – the environment hasn't benefited a whit with the spread of these monstrosities across our pristine rural landscapes, since stable electricity still has to be generated by conventional means to power your household when the wind doesn't blow. The only winners have been the already fabulously rich companies – both domestic and foreign – who've feathered their nests with taxpayer money and kept a willing U.S. Congress on their side.

Case in point, the Production Tax Credit – the gold mine of the wind industry that forgives taxes based on the sporadic output of the turbines – was set to expire with the coming of 2020. Its initial authors thought the industry should be self sufficient by now and ratcheted down the candy for the industry over the past several years with the intent of closing the incentive out by 2020. But at the last minute, in the glob of a temporary federal spending bill that took the place of an actual budget in December 2019, a Democrat-led congress approved the massive spending bill which conveniently rolled in a one-year extension of the tax credit for wind farms. Hence, the scourge of wind farm developers versus rural communities continues.

Famed rich guy Warren Buffet of Berkshire Hathaway said it best in 2014 when explaining why his companies were in the wind business: “We get a tax credit if we build a lot of wind farms,” Buffet said. “That's the only reason to build them. They don't make sense without the tax credit.”

For the rest of us the logic speaks for itself, but still we continue to pay the cookie stackers.

So you think just because you're not living with your wife anymore it's okay to send you're new (deleted) a nice Valentine's gift? I guess you're the newest one and the dumbest one. All the others she hooks up with besides you figured out she's not worth spending the money. I wonder, did you ever do anything nice for your own wife on Valentine's Day?

If you build your roads so they don't pond water in the middle and so it runs off into the ditches, you don't have this mess like we have with our roads in Anderson County when the roads get wet. Sometimes there isn't even any ditch to run to. Imagine that the taxes we pay in Anderson County and we can't even have good road ditches. It boggles the mind.

I want everybody in Garnett to know that (name deleted) charges you more money to use your debit card. You're better off to take cash in there or write a check, because they don't tell you until after they ran your card that they charged you a fee.

What happened to Phone Forum? I don't see it anymore in the paper?

Hey to all you people out there doing all your shopping online. Do ever worry there might be coronavirus on that stuff you're pulling out of the box that came from China. Better wash your hands or put on rubber gloves. That is all.

I know its spring and everything and things are starting to heat up, but I really don't think the (name deleted) store is a place for public displays of affection. Most of us are old folks and we know how it's done, we've just forgot and we really don't need to be reminded. For the rest of the kids they don't need to be seeing it anyway. Regardless, the aisles of the store are not the place to be doing it. Please get it over with before you come in the store or keep control of yourself until you get out. Thank you.

With all the poor people in Garnett why has nobody ever opened a pawn shop here? I think this town could use a good pawn shop.

Watkins: Lawrence flirtation with non-customs/ immigration policy isn't safe

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

STEVE WATKINS, 2ND DIST. CONGRESS

On February 11th the Lawrence City Commission expressed their support for moving forward on drafting a policy that would force the “Lawrence Police Department to end cooperation with U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement, putting our community's safety at risk.

During my first year in Congress, I have actively supported efforts to fix our broken immigration system to clamp down on illegal immigration and support those who want to come to the United States legally. The Lawrence City Commission's draft policy proposal does exactly the opposite and continues to kick the can down the road on a major issue for Kansans.

Local governments and local law enforcement should be doing everything they can to work with our federal agents to ensure our communities are safe. This draft policy proposal is a step in the wrong direction that leads down a slippery slope of Lawrence becoming a sanctuary city, which would be detrimental for the community. Sanctuary cities across the country not only violate federal law and the U.S. constitution, but have proven to fail the American taxpayer and communities they are designed to help. Too often, we hear the story of an illegal immigrant returning to the United States after deportation, and committing violent crimes against U.S. citizens – in some cases even murder.

I love Lawrence, and I believe in order to ensure the safety of our community and the people living there, this policy should not be enacted. Our time and efforts would be better spent ensuring the community is welcoming those who immigrated to our great country legally. The safety of the entire community should be heavily considered when debating this policy.

I strongly urge the Lawrence City Commission to abandon this proposal and instead commit to working with federal law enforcement officers, including ICE, so that they can continue to receive federal funds and keep our community safe.

Bernie Sanders’ love affair with Fidel Castro

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

happened to take and hold power -- or “come to office,” as Sanders delicately puts it -- via force.

Back in 1989, Sanders wrote, “Cuba -- the one country in the entire region that has no hunger, is educating all of its children and is providing high-quality, free health care -- is hated with a passion by the Democrats as much as Republicans.”

Besides the moral obtuseness of arguments like this, the factual basis for such claims is dubious. Cuba was already doing well on measures of health care and education prior to the revolution.

Bernie's perspective on Cuba is characteristic of his worldview that has a sympathy for America's enemies, at least if they are communist or Islamist; that assumes the worst of the United States; and that opposes nearly all U.S. military interventions as misbegotten or malign (Sanders voted for the Afghanistan War after Sept. 11, and now regrets even that vote).

Electing Bernie Sanders would be almost indistinguishable from putting the late radical historian Howard Zinn, or the America-loathing linguist Noam Chomsky, or the tententious left-wing filmmaker Michael Moore in charge of American foreign policy. The country would be in the hands of an opponent of its power with no faith in its goodness. Bernie would make Barack Obama's overly solicitous attitude toward our enemies and Donald Trump's bizarrely warm statements about foreign dictators look like American foreign-policy orthodoxy by comparison.

There is almost no enemy of the United States that wouldn't be heartened by a Sanders victory, and see it as an opportunity to make gains at the expense of the United States and its allies. If his decades-long track record is any indication, Sanders would be inclined to make excuses for our adversaries and look on the bright side of their repression and rapine. He's doing it with the Cuban dictatorship to this day.

Collectible bottle with cork intact

DIGGING UP THE PAST

Henry Roeckers
Call (785) 504-4722 for local archeology information.

Isn't this a neat little bottle? It is one of many that my daughter Lori and I found when we lived in Maine. What really makes this bottle so collectible is that it still has the original cork stopper in the top and the paper label on it.

This label is still very readable as you can see.

Here is what I learned during my research of this little bottle.

Cook, Everett & Pennel was a Pharmaceutical Company established by Alfred R. Cook in 1852, located at Middle and Pearl streets in Portland, Maine. Cook was the president of the company. They were wholesale druggists.

I really have no idea how old this bottle really is or when Tincture of Iodine was discovered or first used. I do know, however, it was used in 1908 in pre-operative skin preparation's by surgeons.

Tincture of Iodine is an antiseptic. It is usually 2-7 percent elemental iodine, along with potassium iodide or sodium iodide, dissolved in a mixture of ethanol and water.

Iodine is moderately toxic when ingested, that is why Tincture of Iodine is sold labeled "For External Use Only" or "Poison" such as this bottle. Iodine is used primarily as a disinfectant.

Higginbotham finishes 6th at State

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

SALINA - Dallas Higginbotham (220) lost in the opening round but rebounded to win 3 straight matches en route to a 6th place finish and Ryland Wright (126) dropped 2 of 3 matches on Friday and Saturday. Higginbotham was 36-7 heading into state and squared off against Kenny Fehrman of Wellington (42-4) in the opening round. Fehrman overmatched Higginbotham and won the first round by decision, 7-0. The loss sent Higginbotham to the consolation bracket. In the first round of the consolation bracket, he downed Michael Schneider (33-15) of Nickerson by decision, 7-4. The win meant a second round match against Jack Lott (35-9) of Marysville which Higginbotham won again by decision, 3-1. His round 3 opponent was Toby Thomas (30-12) of Baldwin High School. Thomas and Higginbotham had a hard fought match that was won by decision by Higginbotham, 2-1. In the semifinals of the consolation bracket, Zachery Ferris (39-3) of Chapman won by decision 5-1 to send Higginbotham to the 5th place match.

Winfield's Zach Phillips (30-15) was his next opponent. The match was won by Phillips by decision, 1-0, but Higginbotham still made the podium with a sixth place finish. Ryland Wright (126) dropped his opening match to Charlie Black of Rose Hill by decision (7-2). Wright entered state with a 32-15 record, Black was 24-9 on the season. Larry Gulley (Eudora), 22-12, was downed by decision (7-0) by Wright in the Consolation Round 1 bracket. The weekend came to an early end as Cade Holtzen (39-4) from Louisburg downed Wright by decision, 3-2.

Burlington ends Bulldogs regular season with a loss

BURLINGTON - Burlington jumped all over Anderson County early jumping out to a 20-10 lead after the first quarter on their way to a 74-47 victory Thursday night. Anderson County didn't fare much better the rest of the night.

AC scored 17 points in the second quarter but allowed Burlington 22 to go up 42-27 at halftime. In each period of the second half the Bulldogs mustered just 10 points each quarter. Burlington responded with 18 in the third quarter and 14 more in the fourth to close out the victory. Edens did all he could to keep Anderson County close by draining 4 three-pointers on his way to 20 points on the night.

Rally leads to Substate appearance for Crest

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - Crest needed to rally from double digits in their opening round game before the team won their first two games of regionals before dropping the regional championship game, but despite the loss Crest still qualified to move on to SubState play this week. To open their regional on Monday night, the Crest Lancers (7-12) were the third seed and squaring off against sixth seeded Southern Coffey County (1-18). SCC had lost their first 16 games of the season and only win came against a winless Marmaton Valley team. Add to that, Crest knocked off SCC 71-36 on opening night of the season. Despite all the odds being against SCC, they came out and battled hard in the first quarter and trailed just 15-10. But as has been the case all season, the hot and cold Lancers went into a dry spell being dominated in the second quarter 20-6. Coming out of the locker room and facing a 30-21 deficit, the Lancers eliminated the deficit and knotted the score at 36-36 heading into the fourth quarter. As SCC was playing with nothing to lose and all the pressure was seemingly on the host Crest Lancers, the two teams battled down to the final buzzer, edging SCC just 48-46. Senior Zach Beckmon led the Lancers with 23 points and pulled down a team high 10 rebounds. In round 2 of the regionals, Crest met up with Altoona-Midway. It was a team they had also downed earlier in the year, 53-41. Crest seemingly had the game going to script in the first half. Crest led 17-9 after the first quarter and 27-15 at intermission. That seemingly inevitable cold spell reared its ugly head again. Crest was limited to just 3 points in the third quarter and Altoona-Midway put them-

Crest's Jacques Coleman fires a shot over the heads of Southern Coffey County's Nathan Borntrager and Aiden Voorhees during the Lancer's regional opener Friday night at Colony. Crest came out on top 48-46. Crest's first quarter and 34-11 at intermission. On this night they wouldn't have any run in them as St. Paul continued to dominate the third period outscoring Crest 14-5 to lead 48-15 heading into the fourth quarter. With the clock running and reserves playing, Crest and St. Paul scored a combined 9 points in the fourth. Crest held a slim 5-4 advantage in the period. Beckmon led Crest with 9 points and 7 rebounds. Next up for Crest (10-13) is a Thursday night matchup with Lebo (20-3). They will play at 7:30 p.m. in Emporia at White Auditorium. The winner will go on to play the winner of Udall (20-3) and Central Christian (15-8) on Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. Crest struggled all night offensively trailing 19-4 after COLONY - It was a disappointing end to an up and down season for the Crest Lady Lancers as they dropped their game on Tuesday night to Oswego, 41-31. Crest (9-10) entered as the third seed and Oswego (6-13) was seeded sixth. The Lancers got off to a rough start and were facing a 14-9 deficit after the first quarter. They kept within striking distance all night cutting the lead slightly over the next two quarters. Crest trailed 19-15 at half-time and still down by four points, 29-25, heading into the final 8 minutes.

Unfortunately for the home team, Crest couldn't get over the hump as Oswego outscored the host team 12-6 in the fourth to move onto the second round. Oswego would lose their second round game 37-32 to second seeded Chetopa (11-8). St. Paul would down Chetopa in the championship game in lopsided fashion, 49-24.

Lady Bulldogs pull away for win over SFT

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

CARBONDALE - Santa Fe Trail played well in the first half before fading against the Lady Bulldogs of Anderson County last Tuesday at home before losing 52-39.

The game was all square at 11 after the first 8 minutes of play.

In the second quarter the Bulldogs picked up the defensive intensity limiting SFT to just 5 points in the second quarter allowing them to take a 19-16 lead into halftime.

Following intermission Anderson County continued to play impressive basketball.

The AC girls had a 17-13 third quarter advantage and put the game away with a 16-10 advantage in the fourth for the double digit victory.

Foltz led the way with 22 points, Jasper chipped in with 17 on the night.

Lady Bulldogs close out regular season with victory over Burlington

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

BURLINGTON - It was a punctuation mark on a solid regular season for the Anderson County Lady Bulldogs as they knocked off Burlington 48-42 on the road last Thursday night.

AC closed out the season winning 8 of their last 10 contests.

The Bulldogs led 13-10 after the first and opened it up in the second with an 18-8 advantage to lead 31-18 at intermission.

Anderson County went cold in the second half scoring just 17 points while allowing Burlington 24 points to get themselves back into the game before falling short.

Jasper and Foltz each scored 21 points to pace the Bulldogs on the night.

Chase County rolls over Lady Vikings

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - Chase County jumped out to a lead of more than 30 points at halftime en route to an easy 67-23 victory over the Central Heights girls.

Central Heights fell behind 18-6 after the first 8 minutes and 43-11 at intermission.

The pace slowed in the second half but Chase County continued to add to their lead in both the third and fourth quarters.

Chase County outscored Central Heights 11-5 in the third quarter and 13-7 in the fourth quarter.

Brown led the way offensively for the Vikings as she scored 15 points. Brockus added 6 points and Roberts was the only other player to score with 2 points.

Vikings boys edge Chase County

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - Behind a strong second half, the Central Heights Vikings edged Chase County 62-56.

Chase County led after the first quarter, 20-17.

The Vikings drained 3 three-pointers in the first quarter and added in the inside game of Austin Coffman as he scored 6 points to lead his team.

Heading into halftime the Vikings knocked 2 points off of their deficit. Central Heights edged Chase County 13-11 in the second quarter.

Coming out of intermission, the Vikings rallied to outscore Chase County 18-13 to take a 48-44 lead heading to the fourth.

They kept Chase County from rallying in the fourth outpacing them 14-12 in the fourth to close out the victory on Monday night.

A trio of Vikings reached double digits on the night lead by Alex Cannady with 16 points. Jared Crawford and Bralen Bowker chipped in with 14 and 13 points respectively.

Austin Coffman controlled the paint with 8 points 10 rebounds and 4 blocks on the night. For good measure, Coffman led his squad with 6 assists on the night.

Lyndon cruises past Lady Vikings

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - Lyndon used an impressive second quarter to spark a 58-37 victory in Tuesday night action last week against the Central Heights Vikings.

Early on it was a tight contest. The Central Heights girls battled tough early, trailing 12-8 after the first quarter.

Lyndon went on a big second quarter run, 19-3, to open up a commanding 31-11 lead at half-time.

It was a lead the Lady Vikings didn't have the firepower to overcome but they did play much better in the second half.

Lyndon outscored the Vikings by one over the last two quarters, 27-26 to close out the impressive victory.

The Vikings were led by

Brown with 17 points.

Cold shooting Vikings lose big to Lyndon

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - The Vikings played Lyndon tough early on before struggling mightily in the second half en route to a lopsided 55-29 defeat.

With the win Lyndon finished the regular season 17-3, including winning 15 of their last 16 contests.

Lyndon led after the first quarter 13-7, but the Vikings gave themselves a chance at a comeback in the second quarter by matching Lyndon bucket for bucket to make the halftime score 24-17.

Lyndon blew up offensively in the third quarter by doubling their first half output while holding the Vikings to just 5 points to turn a 7 point lead into a 48-22 advantage.

Of little consolation, the Vikings equaled Lyndon in the fourth quarter with both teams netting 7 points to close out the game.

Burson led the Vikings with 9 points, Bowker was next with 6 points.

Be yourself - Embrace your own style

Kim Baldwin, McPherson County farmer and rancher

I was recently out of town for a week traveling to multiple locations in the country. My family stayed home to continue the day-to-day routines.

While I was gone, our community's Daddy Daughter Date Night took place. The event had been added onto our family calendar the day the flyer was sent home from school. It was the important topic of conversation during many breakfasts and dinners in our kitchen for weeks leading up to the event.

My 4-year-old daughter, Isannah, obsessed over the idea of a Daddy Daughter Date Night and all of the glamour associated with it. Her voice would instantly rise to an excitedly high-pitched squeak every time she'd mention the words "Daddy Daughter Date Night."

She'd straighten her posture, walk on her tiptoes and prance around the house exclaiming she was going on a fancy date. She also made sure to routinely remind my husband that he, in fact, would be available to take her, and it was going to be fabulous.

Both of my children have benefitted from hand-me-downs over the years. With multiple older cousins who grow fast, we've been able to add many outfits into the kids' closets for a new lease on life. Isannah has especially benefited from having an older, stylish girl cousin who routinely sends beautiful clothes to be worn again by my girl. We have established quite a collection of holiday dresses, party dresses and princess dresses thanks to this wardrobe sharing agreement.

When my daughter first presented the handout detailing the Daddy Daughter Date Night event, I knew we wouldn't need to go dress shopping because we have plenty of options at home.

As the special night approached, I was out of town. I worried I wouldn't be home to do my daughter's hair, let alone help her pick out her dress for this clearly momentous event in my little girl's life. Nonetheless, my girl proved she didn't necessarily need me to be there to help when I received a text message from my mother-in-law with an attached picture.

The image showed my little girl sitting on her daddy's lap with a bright smile before leaving for their date night. She had selected her dress and all of the accessories, and you could tell she was proud to have personally selected her date night outfit all by herself. You could tell she knew that she was going to be the fanciest little girl at the dance.

The dress she chose to wear was not one of her cousin's fancy, princess-like dresses I had anticipated she'd choose. Instead, it was a beautiful black dress with red ruffles and polka dots I had purchased for her while I was in Madrid, Spain, last year. The "flamingo dress," as she refers to it, was accessorized with a beautiful red flower hair clip, grey yoga pants and athletic shoes. It was the exact same outfit she excitedly wore in October ... for Halloween!

While I'm sure this will not be the mindset my daughter will have when it comes to prom dresses many years from now, I can't help but smile whenever I think of how Isannah approached this special night by embracing her own style — obviously without the help of her parents — and totally and fabulously nailing it while enjoying a special evening out with her daddy!

Prairie Spirit Rail Trail - “Birthday Bash” to be held on March 17

GARNETT: The Friends of the Prairie Spirit Trail will host their “birthday bash” event on Tuesday, March 17 at the Anderson County High School in the Commons Area. The celebration marks the 24th anniversary of the official opening of the Prairie Spirit Rail Trail.

Tickets for the event are $10 each and can be purchased from various Friends members, also at Garnett City Hall, or $12 at the door that evening. The event will begin with a silent auction and buffet meal at 6 p.m.

The evening's activities will include updates from communities and trail groups along the Prairie Spirit, and a special presentation on Love What's Local Garnett. The public is invited to attend.

About the trail: The first stretch of the Prairie Spirit Trail officially opened on March 30, 1996. Since that grand opening day 24 years ago, many people have shared the “Prairie Spirit” experience and many projects have been realized through the development of the trail. The improvement projects in Garnett are numerous and include the renovation of the Santa Fe Depot as a tourism information center, a nostalgically lit pathway through town complete with benches lining the trail and native landscaping, bluebird houses for bird watching, and the addition of way-finding kiosks and signage.

On September 1, 1998, Phase II of the trail officially opened and extended the trail from 17 miles in length to more than 33 miles (Richmond to Ottawa). Trailheads and native landscaping were developed in the cities of Ottawa, Princeton and Richmond. The City of Ottawa and the Franklin County Historical Society have made extensive enhancements to the rail corridor within the city limits, including extending the trail to the Old Museum Depot. Picnic shelters and other amenities are ongoing Friends of the Prairie Spirit Trail projects in the communities of Welda and Richmond.

Phase III opened in 2008 connecting the first two phases to the enchanting communities of Colony, Carlyle and Iola and lengthen the trail to more than 51 miles. The city of Iola and THRIVE Allen County have been working on streetscape and trail enhancements in the southern portion of the Prairie Spirit.

2013: Volunteers created an extension of the Prairie Spirit from Iola to Humboldt called the Southwind Trail. Trail development continues in all directions of the Prairie Spirit, connecting communities across Kansas with intentions to one day tie to trails in Missouri.

Today, progress contin-

Notes go nuclear in sales efforts

Want to blow through the conventional sales combat tactics that everybody, and I mean everybody else is using? Want to take your sales effort nuclear?

Write a note.

Yep. You can obliterate the competition just by treating your best customers like they're deserving of something more than an email or a tweet or a Facebook post.

Sure, it's old-fashioned. It's archaic. It sounds like one of those History Channel stories where Sears meets Roebuck. But it is the intercontinental ballistic missile of selling, and anybody can do it.

I forget the numbers of how many electronic messages we get a day – emails, tweets, TV & radio ads, blah blah – but it's way more than Justin Bieber has mugshots, and that's a bunch.

You can make yourself memorable by stepping out of that fray and doing it old school with a handwritten, old-fashioned, 55¢ postage-stamped note.

1) As I've already noted in this column many times before, your best clients matter most. I'm not suggesting you send a handwritten note every time somebody buys a jaw breaker from the machine in your lobby. Deploy your Nuke Notes on that 20 percent of your customers that make up 80 percent of your business, as well as new prospects to join those ranks.

HOW TO SELL STUFF

Dane Hicks
Publisher – THE TRADING POST

2) Next, go to your local printer and get some good-quality note cards with matching envelopes. No cheap stuff you run through your own computer printer – this should be every bit as good as a wedding invitation. Keep it simple but be sure your logo is there and your contact info somewhere, either on the card or envelope.

3) Block out time to do it. You don't need enough time to write a novel, just a few lines of thanks or “hey did you see this” or congratulations or something, but you must have time to do it. Make it just before lunch, first cup of coffee, etc.

4) Be professional, but with a personal touch. Nothing sappy. Mention how much you appreciate his/her business, to contact you personally if there are ever any issues, or clip an article and send it or refer a website link. Be aware of his/her interests and meet those interests.

5) For heaven's sake, check your spelling and grammar in advance, even if you have to type the note's text in Word (or something with spell/grammar check). If you're not confident in your writing ability, run it by someone else to see how it sounds. Remember this is more formal than electronic, so no text-speak or any of that nonsense.

Set yourself a goal to send at least one note a week. It will be the nuclear weapon of your sales arsenal, and believe me, it will help you sell stuff.

The potato bar supper on March 14th has become a St. Patrick's Day tradition and offers a full menu of baked potatoes with all the extras for a donation. Serving will be from 5-7 p.m. at the Community Building. Wear your green, or not as you wish, and come enjoy the food and fellowship. The Museum will open at 3 with no admission charge.

"Every Apron Has a Story" was the theme of a program 15 years ago in March which was sponsored by the Richmond Library before the Museum was organized. Women were invited to bring an apron or two for Show and Tell, and the number of aprons that were brought was surprising to everyone.

So, Sunday, March 22, at 2 p.m. will be a 15th anniversary of aprons by everyone for fun, but also featuring some of Lorene Stockard's collection of unusual and special aprons. Those attending are invited to bring one or two of their favorites to share, proving again that "Every Apron Has a Story." It's ladies day out, so come join in the fun!

Dennis Peters has been researching the town's buildings for several years.

"You'll see how the town has evolved," he said, referring to the pictures and histories he will present about 70 of the buildings from 1880-1980 at the annual meeting on Sunday, April 19th, 2 p.m.

Visitors will learn what the two dates at the top of the Odd Fellows Hall mean, which is the oldest building still in use, where the first auto dealership in town, the first depot, and the first of several other build-

Richmond Fair is July 9-11 this year

Plans are moving quickly, the fair book is in progress and 4-H and FFA members/students are working on some of their entries for the 96th annual Richmond Free Fair which will be July 9th, 10th, and 11th, said board president Sarah Peters.

Most of the activities will be about like last year's, Peters explained. Friday night's fun will be the Old-Time Games followed by popular singer Randy Rierison and Saturday night's headliner will be CleverMax.

Two women who will be helping more this year are Crystal Conner who will replace her grandfather, Charlie Feuerborn, in the garden and crops department, and Shelby Reed who will assist with providing some new and different awards. Shelby has had lots of training by her parents, Doyle and Laurinda Sobba, who have been active board members for years.

With the new livestock barn provided by Rob Pearce and QSI four years ago and the great additions to that barn two years later, the livestock entries now have the space they need. The number of livestock entries has increased with the new facilities and the 4-H and FFA families appreciate the quality environment for the animals and themselves.

Last year's fair had 773 entries by 176 exhibitors, said Sr. Loretta Roeckers, board member who keeps detailed fair records. This is not counting those who brought tractors, or were in the games, contests, and parade, she added.

Exhibitors came from four states: Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Colorado; and six Kansas counties: Franklin, Anderson, Linn, Johnson, Miami and Allen.

The parade theme will be "Make America Great Again" and parade marshals are Dean and Pat Kueser who have welcomed visitors to watch the parade from their yard next to the United Methodist Church for many years.

Mike and Lynda Topp, who were not out and about for some time due to a vehicle accident, want everyone to know that the watermelon feed will be served on both Thursday and Friday nights, continuing a tradition of several years.

The fair book will be distributed after May 1st, said Sr. Loretta, and most fair details are in this book.

Richmond Free Fair officers are Peters, president; Todd Mildfelt, vice-president; Loretta Sobba, secretary; and Cindi Dryden, treasurer. Other board members plus additional volunteers are needed to have a successful fair, and all these volunteers are appreciated, said Sr. Loretta Roeckers.

Richmond UMW has variety of programs

Richmond United Methodist Women's 2019 programs included the recognition of 150 years of UMW, given by Janice McIntosh. She used the book by that title and then gave it to the church library for future use. The unit-wide program book "Sisterhood of Grace" was used for a few programs.

Nancy (McFarland) McKitterick of Ottawa used PowerPoint to show the experiences she and her husband had as one-year missionaries from the RLDS Church to the Native Americans who live at the bottom of the Grand Canyon.

Lorene Stockard had pictures and script from her granddaughters, Olivia and Paige Stockard, which told about their mission trip to Kenya and Rowanda to serve the natives, especially to help them acquire clean drinking water. Many men who work in the mines in Kenya suffer from a terrible foot disease and something as simple as providing them with good shoes is a tremendous help.

How Eleanor Roosevelt contributed to this country was described in one program and another was a short history of the United Methodist Church.

Richmond UMW's two main projects are the Food Pantry which is available to anyone to use at any time and is replenished daily, and "Open Doors," a fun time when about 25 displays of hobbies and collections are arranged in Fellowship Hall the nights of the Richmond Free Fair in July.

The unit meets its conference obligations, this year invited Mable Gilliland of Ottawa to be guest speaker on UMW Sunday, and has various other projects including a Christmas luncheon with guests and help for a less-fortunate family.

Officers are: Cathy Parsons, president; Pat Vining, vice-president; Sherryl Reiter, secretary; and Mary Hall, treasurer. Pastor Lenise Eddings serves both Richmond and Princeton United Methodist Churches.

Richmond UMW hears of local couple's involvement

Continuing their tradition of learning about several new topics each year, the Richmond United Methodist Women began the 2020 programs with one about how the Bass Pro group with headquarters in Springfield, MO, partnered with Pastor Robert Lockhart and his wife who assist with Convoy of Hope, world-wide leaders in disaster relief.

Working together, Bass Pro and Convoy provided about 10,000 bags of groceries; about 20,000 meals; toys, games and fishing equipment to thousands of people on the main Bahama island which was nearly devastated by Hurricane Dorian last year.

Mary Hall gave the program, using PowerPoint and script provided by her daughter, Carla Springer. Carla and her husband, Russell Springer, are employed by Johnny Morris, Bass Pro owner, who assigned the couple the job of logistics for this huge project for Christmas 2019.

Starting weeks, even months, ahead of Christmas, Carla and Russell organized and ordered tons of supplies, got them through customs, and to their destination in time for the big event. At least 8,000 children received gifts and food and many men had their fishing equipment, including boats, replaced by Bass Pro so they could get back to making a living for their families.

Meals were served for two days under one of three huge tents, which also provided space for carnival rides, fun and games and other activities. Carla and Russell worked ahead of time from their offices at Big Cedar Resort, a part of Bass Pro, then flew to the Bahama Island ahead of the supply planes to make other arrangements and oversee parts of the project.

The PowerPoint pictures Mary showed included happy children with some of their new clothes, shoes, books, and toys which included small fishing rods for kids.

"I had no idea what to expect," said Carla about this project. "But this was the most fulfilling experience of my life. It makes me thankful for what I have and that we were given the opportunity to help however we could with Bass Pro's part of this Convoy of Hope."

Arlen Hall and Verdena Springer, Russell's mother, were guests of UMW so they could see and hear about this very special project.

Mary Hall reminded UMW members that the money they send to United Methodist Church and UMW mission projects has much the same effect as did this Convoy of Hope trip to the Bahamas.

"We don't know where our gifts go or exactly who they help, but we know we are helping others, somewhere, in some way and it's always appreciated," she said.

The Dragon Rider

by Delainey Coble
Mrs. Heppler's Class
4th Grade • Central Heights

Once upon a time there was a girl who always wanted to ride a dragon. Her name was Sophia. She loved dragons so much. Her parents said it was too dangerous to ride a dragon. So one day she went outside to find a dragon. It took her forever to finally find a cave that she thought a dragon could be in. She didn't find one though. She was very disappointed. So she went back home. She was sad. She got home and her parents asked where she had been. She said playing with my friends why? They said just wondering. Ok. Her parents asked if she was out trying to find a dragon she said no... but she was lying.

She just didn't want them to know she was looking for a dragon. So they wouldn't be mad at her. She went back to her room and watched a movie about dragons. They were so interesting to her. She was really sad she couldn't ride one. She had so many posters of dragons in her room.

Most of all, she wants to ride a fire dragon, and she always will. She hopes she can ride one soon. The next morning she wakes up to her house on fire. She ran outside and saw a dragon! She wanted to run up and pet it but her parents wouldn't let her. She squirmed out of their grasp to pet the dragon. She got to the dragon but it let her pet it she was confused? She thought it would hurt her, but it didn't? She tried to get on the dragon and it let her. This was abnormal for a dragon. Maybe it was sick? She wondered. She wasn't sure. Now she was really confused. The dragon suddenly started flying. She was scared. She didn't know what to think. She was happy but shocked. The dragon took her to his den. When the dragon started talking Sophia fainted. She was so terrified.

When she saw the dragon again she was still in shock. Sophia said, "I'll name you...." The dragon stopped her "My name is Jim." Sophia paused in shock. "Oh ok." She stuttered. The dragon said "and your name is.....?" "Oh my name is Sophia" she stuttered. The whole time Sophia thought she was gonna be Jim's lunch. She said she had to get back home but she really didn't. She didn't want to go back home either because she wanted to stay with Jim although he was still a little scary to her. She still thought of Jim as her friend. She told him she really didn't have to go back she was just a little scared. She ended up staying with Jim awhile they are really close friends but then she really has to go this time she tells Jim goodbye.

He takes her back home. She said she would be back the next day, she was but had bad news for him. She told Jim she was worried. She told him she had to move to somewhere without dragons. He asked if he could come she said "Sure you can you just have to be quiet." He was happy. The day they moved was hard for her she had to say goodbye to all her friends, but not her best friend her best friend was coming with her. She was talking to Jim about where he should hide. He suggested that he hide in the car. She said that's too obvious. "How about you hide on the roof?" she suggested. He agreed when they got to their new house Jim left for a long time she was confused.

She was very scared when Jim had another kid with him. She thought for a second, was Jim a kidnapper! She was so scared. Was he the reason she had to move? She told Jim to stay way from her. He said he'd go back where he came from. She felt bad. She wanted to apologize but he had already left. She met new friends at her new school. At this point she had totally forgot about Jim. She didn't care anymore.

The End

KDA seeks participants for beef genetics trade mission to Mexico

MANHATTAN - Together with the U.S. Livestock Genetics Export, Inc. (USLGE) and the New Mexico Department of Agriculture, the Kansas Department of Agriculture has an upcoming opportunity for Kansas' seedstock cattle producers to increase international marketing opportunities for their beef genetics in Mexico. The Kansas Department of Agriculture is seeking individuals to participate in the trade mission which will take place April 23-27, 2020, in Aguascalientes, Mexico. The mission will include ranch visits as well as networking with producers and exhibitors at the National Angus Show. Kansas agriculture exports totaled $3.8 billion in 2018. Mexico is Kansas' number one trade partner, accounting for approximately 33% of our agricultural exports. KDA's mission is to provide an environment that enhances and encourages economic growth of the agriculture industry domestically and internationally. The Kansas Ag Growth Project identified beef as a key component for state growth. For more information on the trade mission to Mexico, including instructions on how to apply and application requirements, visit: agriculture.ks.gov/international. Deadline for submitting applications for consideration is Friday, March 20, 2020. Airfare, in-country transportation, translation services, and some meals will be provided. KDA is offering additional market development opportunities for Kansas farmers, ranchers and agribusinesses. State Trade Expansion Program (STEP) grant trade missions are planned for VICTAM Asia/Petfood Forum Asia, Bangkok, Thailand, March 24-26, 2020; and NAMPO Harvest Day, Bothaville, South Africa, May 12-15, 2020. Additional beef genetic trade missions are tentatively scheduled for the coming year including two out-bound missions to Argentina in late July, and Costa Rica in late August. For more information contact Suzanne Ryan-Numrich, KDA international trade director, at Suzanne.Numrich@ks.gov or 785-564-6704.

Pork industry confirms confidence in U.S. soy

ST. LOUIS - U.S. soybean farmers appreciate the pork industry's ongoing efforts to assure animal feed products brought in from outside the U.S. do not transfer foreign animal diseases to domestic animals or contaminate domestic meal supplies, which remain safe and reliable. Every day, soybean farmers take pride in providing a wholesome, high-quality feed ingredient and are actively working across U.S. agriculture to ensure the nation's pork industry continues to thrive and serve as a global leader.

"The safety and quality of U.S. Soy products are our top priority, and we fully support bolstering biosecurity measures to prevent and mitigate the transmission of any foreign animal diseases into the U.S.," said USB CEO Polly Ruhland.

With African swine fever (ASF) spreading to parts of Africa, Asia and Europe, the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) sent a letter this week to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue asking to ban imports of organic soy products for use in animal feeds from ASF-impacted countries. The United Soybean Board (USB) commends NPPC for expressing in that request its "confidence in the safety of U.S. Soy" as a reliable feed ingredient. Though, USB still recognizes that trading partners are of critical importance to U.S. soybean farmers.

"Poultry and swine are major consumers of soybean meal, so protecting domestic farms and the U.S. animal agriculture industry is crucial," said USB Chair Jim Carroll III, a soybean farmer from Brinkley, Arkansas. "We have closely collaborated with our pork partners to avoid and reduce threats including African swine fever."

The U.S. Soy industry remains diligent about practices to protect the U.S. from ASF and to ensure that soybean meal is a dependable and safe source of nutrients for pigs, poultry, livestock and aquaculture. USB efforts related to pathogens include cross-industry discussions with USB's feed technical team and collaborative investments with the private sector to develop an ASF surrogate virus with the University of Minnesota, which will enable development of an ASFV test and a formal feed-ingredient risk assessment. The U.S. Soy community also has robust standards and travel protocols in place to protect soy's feed customers and their swine herds.

The ASF virus is commonly spread by direct or indirect contact between animals but can live on most surfaces for short periods of time, including feed that makes contact with infected animals. Yet, viral transmission of the infection is primarily spread by animal-to-animal contact or through airports or other ports of entry on contaminated meat, equipment or clothing.

Declan Schroeder, Ph.D., virologist and associate professor at the University of Minnesota indicates, "Time and temperature conditions that exceed World Organization for Animal Health (OIE) and U.S. Department of Agriculture APHIS temperature inactivation requirements, i.e., 140 degrees Fahrenheit for 20 minutes, will inactivate the ASF virus. This combined with biosecurity practices to prevent recontamination result in products that will not transmit the virus." Tim Kemper, the global operations director for Desmet Ballestra, adds that there are multiple process steps in a typical soybean plant where these temperature and time parameters are exceeded.

While ASF has not been detected in the U.S., the soy industry recognizes the need for proactive efforts to minimize the risk of importing it. USB and the U.S. Soybean Export Council will continue to monitor ASF and offer educational outreach to the soy industry regarding safety best practices to prevent the spread of ASF and other animal pathogens.

Wrongful conviction leads to over $1.5 million settlement

TOPEKA - The attorney general's office has resolved a third lawsuit filed under the state's mistaken-conviction statute enacted by the legislature in 2018, Attorney General Derek Schmidt said today.

The attorney general reached an agreed resolution of a mistaken-conviction lawsuit filed by Lamonte McIntyre in March 2019. McIntyre served 23 years in prison for the 1994 murders of Donald Ewing and Doniel Quinn before being ordered released in 2017 by a Wyandotte County court reviewing the case. The agreed resolution was approved today in Shawnee County District Court by Judge Teresa L. Watson.

In the agreed order, the court determined that McIntyre did not commit the crime or crimes for which he was convicted, nor was he an accessory or accomplice to that crime or crimes, nor did he suborn perjury, fabricate evidence or cause or bring about the conviction. Between April 1994 and October 2017 McIntyre served 8,583 days in prison or jail.

Accordingly, the court ordered the following relief for McIntyre, as provided by the mistaken-conviction statute: he was granted a Certificate of Innocence. Also, his records of his conviction, arrest, and DNA profile record information were ordered expunged. He also was granted total compensation of $1,553,379.45 and was granted permission to participate in the state health care benefits program for plan years 2020 and 2021.

"When is it time?"

If you honestly answer "yes" to three or more of these questions, it may be time for your loved one to move into long-term care.

Do you have concerns about his ability to live alone safely?

Is she incontinent?

Does he shop for food and prepare nutritious meals?

Is she able to take medications on time in the proper dosages?

Can he manage his personal finances?

Has there been fire or water damage to the home due to unsafe cooking?

Has the home flooded because of not turning off running water?

Can she move from chair to chair, or get into and out of bed without assistance?

Can he bathe without assistance?

Has she fallen recently, or often?

Is caring for him damaging your own health?

Has a medical adviser or another objective party suggested to you that it is time?

Let us help you create a plan for your loved one so you can feel secure in the knowledge you have made the best decisions possible.
